

ZOE EMPOWERS KENYA —

2018 Data Highlights

ZOE Empowers orphans and vulnerable children to move beyond charity

Our Mission —

We empower vulnerable children to move beyond charity.

ZOE is breaking the cycle of extreme poverty around the world by empowering orphans and vulnerable children to become entrepreneurs who are socially, financially and spiritually strong.

Why Empowerment?

Millions of children are isolated and exploited due to extreme poverty. The well-intended response is often to give more, fueling a cycle where young people become dependent rather than independent. Addressing multiple barriers simultaneously is the only way to overcome the problem.

A Holistic Approach

ZOE'S EMPOWERMENT MODEL TRANSFORMS
AT LEAST EIGHT MAJOR AREAS OF LIFE

Food Security

Children learn to grow or buy their own food, yielding enough to eat nutritious meals daily, share with other children and sell surplus in the community.

Secure Housing

Secure housing, often rented at first, is acquired through purchasing land and building materials with excess business income. Groups join together in providing labor for home construction.

Health/Hygiene

Hygiene is taught to avoid disease, and access to healthcare is acquired for when young people do fall ill.

Child Rights

Human rights training enables children to stand up for themselves and those around them. Their group gives them the social structure needed to successfully enforce their rights ending heinous abuses.

Education

Child-led families have the tools and motivation to re-enroll in or begin a formal education, with some even attending college and beyond to maximize their futures.

Income Generation

Children own multiple businesses producing steady streams of income and allowing them to employ their siblings, other orphans, widows and community members.

Community Connections

The sense of belonging to their peer group transcends into larger society as they move from being beggars and sometimes thieves to entrepreneurs and leaders, respected and valued by their community.

Spiritual Strength

While ZOE is a religiously non-restrictive program, children experience the gospel in words and actions in ways that are always inviting but never coercive.

Year 1

Empowerment training begins by encouraging children to dream about their future while their most urgent needs are addressed through grants and training. In collaboration with a supportive peer group, business plans are developed, goals are set and a framework to achieve them is put in place.

Year 2

Businesses utilize larger micro-loans to create growth. Regular access to food enables orphans to become healthier, as they learn their rights and go to school. Crops, livestock, businesses and self-esteem increase while their group becomes a family providing social and spiritual support.

Year 3

Children have successfully turned their lives around through their hard work. Empowerment has uncovered in them confidence and a new voice as respected community members. Businesses diversify and expand, lifting the entire community with the work these young people do.

Overall Self-Sufficiency Results – Kenya

THE PROBLEM

There are millions of orphans and vulnerable children lacking the basic necessities of life, with no hope that tomorrow can be better. ZOE has identified eight major life areas which hold these young people in life-threatening poverty.

ZOE'S RESULTS

Young participants move from the hopelessness of crushing poverty to meeting their needs across eight major life areas: food security, secure housing, health/hygiene, child-rights, education, income generation, community connections, and spiritual strength.

Self-Sufficiency Index

The Self-Sufficiency Index (SSI) measures the level of achievement each family has reached at the time of the survey across seven of the eight areas of ZOE's intervention. Spiritual Strength is not included in ZOE's SSI measure, due to the nature of that life area. The SSI is an amalgamation of pertinent results in each life area.

METHODOLOGY

ZOE realizes the impacts shown in these highlights are extremely high. These results are in keeping with what ZOE staff and other missional professionals observe in the field from ZOE's program. ZOE works hard to ensure our methodology is as robust as possible given the financial constraints of this study. For a detailed discussion of ZOE's methodology please visit: wearezoe.org/impactdata. THE PURPOSE OF THE IMPACT DATA

ZOE measures the results of the empowerment program for orphans and vulnerable children through gathering and analyzing data drawn directly from program participants across ZOE's eight areas of intervention.

WHAT THIS DATA DESCRIBES

ZOE's young participants in Kenya (0-20 years of age) join empowerment groups of 60 to 100 orphans and vulnerable children while living in their own villages. Over the next three years ZOE, and their local community, stands behind them with access to the trainings and resources needed to become self-reliant across eight major areas of life. This data shows a point-in-time snapshot of the results, from a randomly selected sample of ZOE empowerment groups in each year of the program (at group formation before interventions, midpoint, and at graduation). ZOE will continue tracking these groups through their three years to provide a longitudinal study extending beyond graduation.
